Invite: GreenQUEST to host public forum on clean energy

11 April 2024 | 13:00-18:00 | Old Mutual House, 33 Klaasens Rd, Bishopscourt

GreenQUEST, a project funded by the German Federal Ministry for Education and Research, involving the University of Cape Town's (UCT) Catalysis Institute, will host a public forum on Thursday, 11 April 2024 to showcase and discuss the potential of the innovative green liquified fuel gas (GLFG) project.

This innovative fuel is created by combining carbon dioxide captured from the atmosphere with green hydrogen from renewable sources. It promises to revolutionise household energy consumption in Sub-Saharan Africa and beyond, offering a cleaner alternative to polluting fuel sources that contribute to the death of more than four million people worldwide each year.

"The forum will feature engaging panel discussions and interactive presentations, providing an unparalleled opportunity for your team to gain firsthand insights from leading scientists, entrepreneurs, and thought leaders in the field.

"This is a unique opportunity to cover a transformative development in the world of clean energy, one that could significantly impact millions of lives," said Professor Jack Fletcher, the director of UCT Catalysis Institute. The institute forms part of the Department of Chemical Engineering in UCT's Faculty of Engineering & the Built Environment.

Please RSVP by Monday, 8 April to secure your spot at this landmark event.
