UCT confirms that a small private helicopter made an emergency landing in Cross Campus road on middle campus this morning at nine o'clock. No one was injured.

Eyewitnesses said that the helicopter hit the top of some trees on the side of the road and then immediately afterwards attempted to land. During the landing the helicopter tumbled onto its side. The pilot and three passengers were shaken but not visibly hurt.

UCT emergency services were on the scene almost immediately and assisted the pilot and passengers and alerted the police.
