VC and Mastercard scholars do the #JerusalemDanceChallenge

Each year, University of Cape Town Vice-Chancellor Professor Mamokgethi Phakeng goes on a hike with the UCT Mastercard Foundation Program scholars.

The initiative, built on the premise that all young people, no matter their starting point in life, should have an opportunity to obtain quality education, provides full-cost scholarships to young Africans pursuing first-time undergraduate or postgraduate degrees.

This year the annual hike was cancelled due to COVID-19 so when President Cyril Ramaphosa announced the move to lockdown alert level 1, the Professor Phakeng came together with the scholars to do the #JerusalemDanceChallenge to celebrate Heritage Day.
